[Submit Claims]

- Saved Unfinished. Clicking on a row loads that data into the portal. If there is already data, it asks if you want to save first. If not, it discards it all. If so, it runs through the save sequence and checks to make sure the form validates for saving without submitting.
- This navigation button and page (Submissions) are only visible to users with a role of "Administrator" or "Data Entry" assigned
- Upload Spreadsheet button causes ss_upload box to appear. Once file is chosen and submitted, all rows are uploaded whether they validate or not, and invalid values are noted with red-hilited cells.
- Plus sign causes "bol_upload" box to appear. Once uploaded, the new BOL is auto=-selected. Clicking on a row selects one. Control clicking selects multiple.
- Clicking a BOL cell in the claims rows auto-enters the selected doc number(s). Multiple docs are separated by a space.
- Plus sign to the upper right of the claim lines creates a new claim line at the bottom of the others, which is editable in line. In line edits follow the rules noted in the table above..
- Submit Claims button is disabled if there are any critical validation errors, which are indicated as hilited in red; cells validate on blur. Non-critical validation errors are hilited in yellow, and do not disable the submit button.
- Once submitted, a floating box appears saying that the claim was submitted, and if it was a spreadsheet that was edited, it displays a disclaimer that the submitted version is the official version. Then the claims table blanks out, the shipping documents table blanks out, and all fields go back to defaults, and it is ready for a new submission to be created.
- Save without submitting requires a Submission Title. Upon clicking this without one, it displays "Please enter a Submission Title" in red letters just below the field, and gives that field the focus.

▤ Duplicate line button - creates a duplicate of the selected claim line just below, and puts the focus in the first blank field of the new line

Document number auto-enters from uploaded file name if empty, but is editable. Document number is required, file upload is not required

If this is an existing Doc Number that is being edited, if a file is uploaded it overrides and replaces the old file.

Delete first confirms that the user wants to delete and tells them it is not reversible. If confirmed, it deletes this doc number, file, and removes it from the list.

This is part of the submissions page. It is a hidden div which floats over the other layouts when a submission is successully committed.

Submission Sent Successfully!	✕

The Submission was successfully sent to PCA.

Since you made changes within the portal to the submission prior to sending, the spreadsheet that you originally uploaded is now different than your submitted version. The submitted version is the official version. You will receive a confirmation copy of the submission shortly in your email, or it will be available for download from the portal in the history section.
